

Matthew Hallisey Government Affairs

Experience with public policy issues and industries and organizations, including:

- Transportation, commercial and utility construction, and state contracting; construction safety training
- Consumer protection
- Labor and employment
- Home care
- Occupational licensing
- State Bond Commission
- Clean Water Fund
- Utility energy infrastructure
- State Ethics Code
- Regulatory agencies such as Consumer Protection, Energy and Environmental Protection, Labor, U.S. EPA and OSHA
- Connecticut Congressional delegation, D.C. and district staff

Led efforts on legislation to successfully:

- Designate Kidney Disease Awareness Week, recognizing polycystic kidney disease; and U.S.S. Indianapolis CA-35 Day.
- Establish a notice registries must give elderly consumers before commencing home care services to protect consumers.
- Specify conditions under which security is required from employers to ensure compliance with withholding tax requirements.
- Allow certain adult adoptees to access their original birth certificates, which restores the law and eliminates discrimination.
- Adopt a formal lawyer assistance program.
- Authorize an offer of compromise to settle claims during arbitration of a construction contract.
- Oppose a state false claims act for construction contractors.
- Oppose onerous enforcement authority and additional liability for utility contractors.
- Support an exception to reverse auction bidding for construction management services.
- Advocate for the veto of a bill that was not subject to a public hearing and adversely affected an industry client.